

LOCAL MATTERS.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—War Department, Office of the Chief Signal Officer, Washington, D. C., Nov. 27, 1877—10:30 a. m. For the Middle States, rising barometer, southerly winds, veering to cooler, westerly, partly cloudy or cloudy weather and possibly occasional rain.

THE FLOOD.—The waters of the late flood have partially subsided, and the amount of damage inflicted begins to be more apparent. Dispatches received last night confirm the reports heretofore given, indicating very extensive damage by the flood to the Chesapeake and Ohio canal along its entire extent from Georgetown to Cumberland. President Gorman went to Georgetown yesterday morning, and in the afternoon started out along the line of the canal. The Georgetown level was found to be very extensively damaged. The outlet lock at Georgetown is in a better condition than was expected. One half of dam No. 4, near Williamsport, is gone. It was of solid masonry, and was considered invulnerable against any force of the elements. It cost nearly $500,000. The canal will, it is conceded on all sides, be useless for the balance of the season. Seasoned timber and other material belonging to the canal company, valued at $250,000, was swept off from the line of the canal. The wharves at Georgetown were saved by cutting the canal above Edinburg, some distance from the town. At this place the canal company's workshops at Saco, Hook the company has succeeded in saving over five thousand dollars in lumber washed away. The company's carpenter shops, &c., are a complete wreck, except one of their buildings, which is fastened with hawsers to the railroad track. About eight thousand dollars worth of lock gates were chained together last night and fastened to the shore, where they still float, and will be saved. At Harper's Ferry the whole lower part of the town was still under water last night, and several locks east of there were reported as washed out. All along the line of the canal houses have been submerged and carried away, while loaded boats were swept over the backs and carried some distance from the canal, where the retreating waters left them high and dry. Other boats have been literally broken in half by being thrown across the tow path. The following is a list of breaks in the canal, of which knowledge has been received:—One at Cumberland level, not very large. Total loss on this level probably $3,000. At Mead's lock a break is reported quite large, water still running over. One is also reported at Round Top Cement mills above Hancock, and one at Culvert West End, Hancock, size not given. One at Boyl's culvert, East Hancock. One at Harper's, 5 miles below Williamsport, not very large. Abutments at dam No. 5, above Williamsport, badly undermined. Dam No. 4, above Shepherdstown, has 125 feet washed away. There is a large break just above the Great Falls, and also a very large one at Log Walk, Va. It is also reported that dam No. 6, above Williamsport, has been carried away. At twelve o'clock Sunday night the canal boat Lydia L. Shills, laden with 110 tons of coal, broke from her moorings at a Georgetown wharf, and drifted down stream. In passing the Long Bridge she struck one of the abutments and went down. The boat was thought to be in the water, but it was not seen to rise to the surface, but in a few minutes she was seen to rise south of the bridge, bottom upward. In the stable canal were a pair of fine mules, which were drowned. The craft again sank. It was the property of O. Sheets & Bro. Several other boats that had drifted from above passed under the bridge unharmed. Near the Chain Bridge the canal and river are one, and in order to prevent the washing away of the Georgetown level it was found necessary to cut away about fifty feet of the canal bank in order to let the water out. When this was done it had the effect of washing away about one hundred and fifty feet of the canal near the bridge. This let the water out of the Georgetown level, and there are now some fifty or sixty boats, the greater portion of which are loaded with coal, imbedded in the soft bottom of the canal.

The damage along the upper river has also been great. Large quantities of wood, fencing, live stock and farm products have been swept away, bridges damaged, &c.

At Georgetown many of the wharves were damaged and large quantities of coal washed away. A number of barrels of flour, whiskey, fish and other merchandise were carried off by the flood, and furnished work for the boys and men who were out in boats catching them.

The damage along the river front at this city was not so much as was at first feared. The merchants had taken warning and removed all of their perishable goods above the reach of the flood. The only damage to merchandise so far reported was to grain and groceries landed from the steamers and stored in the warehouses on the wharves. Even this will, it is thought, prove slight. The damage to the wharves themselves is also light. A quantity of coal at the various coal wharves has been damaged by the deposit of mud left on it by the receding waters.

The damage to the Alexandria and Washington road is being repaired and trains are expected to pass over by midnight. Meanwhile the passengers from the A. & F. and Va. Midland roads are being transferred via the Potomac ferry boats.

The passengers on the Midland road had to be transferred at the Rivanna bridge last night, but it was expected that that structure would be repaired to day, thus making a through connection to Lynchburg. Beyond the latter point the road is very badly damaged, and trains will not be able to run through to Danville for a week or two. The trains on the Manassas Branch are running to Front Royal, and those on the A. & F. and W. O. roads through without interruption.

No night trains will be run on the main line of the Midland road to night.

FOREIGN TRADE.—Mr. Ernest C. DaCosta, of the firm of DaCosta & Co., Barbadoes, W. I., who was in this city last Saturday, will return in a short time and spend a few weeks here. His object is to secure a reopening of trade between Alexandria and Barbadoes. Among the movements that will tend to improve the real estate of Alexandria and its surroundings a recovery of the West India trade may well be included, and as all classes of the community are interested in the future prosperity of the city, it is hoped that an effort will be made by the merchants, bankers and manufacturers in this direction. The Alexandria correspondent of the Baltimore Market Journal says:

"Speaking of commerce, reminds me that Mr. Ernest DaCosta of the large W. I. Commission house of DaCosta & Co., which is located at Barbadoes, is expected here to consult with the members of the Merchants' Exchange, respecting the feasibility of insuring some trade between here and the island. It is to be hoped that some plan will be devised by which a channel of trade may be opened. The firm of DaCosta & Co., is abundantly able to make advances, and its reputation for integrity, probity and honesty is well known in America and England. In a conversational exchange, he assured me that everything would be done to give DaCosta a full insight into the commercial affairs of Alexandria, and he expressed hopes that something tangible would ensue from the gentleman's visit."

FAIRFAX VS. CITY COUNCIL OF ALEXANDRIA.—As noticed in the Gazette at the time, this case was submitted in the Supreme Court of the United States on Monday of last week upon a motion to dismiss the writ of error because there was no Federal question involved, or to affirm the judgment of the Court of Appeals of Virginia, upon the ground that the question having been decided in the case of Underwood vs. McVeigh, the appeal was frivolous. As will be remembered the Court of Appeals decided that the stock owned by Dr. Fairfax was not properly seized and therefore the sentence of confiscation was a nullity, and also that Judge Underwood having in other cases, but not in this, struck the appearance of Dr. Fairfax from the record and denied him a hearing, the decree was for this reason a nullity upon the principles decided in the case of Underwood vs. McVeigh, that the record was a protection to the city. Upon the grounds stated above Dr. Fairfax moved to dismiss the writ or affirm the judgment of the Court of Appeals. The Supreme Court, yesterday, delivered its opinion, denying the motions as made, and retaining the case for argument upon its merits, thus deciding that the questions presented by the record were not frivolous or old. The case was argued by Messrs. C. W. Wattles and John Johns, Jr., for Fairfax, and by Messrs. S. F. Beach and Charles E. Stuart for the city of Alexandria.

POLICE REPORT.—The following cases have been tried since last report: Priscilla Voss and Jennie West, both colored, for vulgar and abusive language on the street, were fined and discharged.

Henry Butler, colored, on suspicion of robbing the house of William Fannon, was discharged, no evidence being presented against him.

James Williams, colored, for stealing two bushels of wheat from Wm. A. Moore on the 4th of February, 1876, was sentenced to receive twenty stripes.

William Patington, for abusive language to Mrs. McQueen, was fined and discharged.

Ella Edmonds, colored, for striking and abusing Ada Woodfield, was dismissed with a reprimand.

Henry Butler, colored, accused of stealing a coat and one pair of gloves from J. H. Swart, of Fairfax, was committed for the action of the authorities at that county.

DEATHS.—Mr. Robert A. Jackson, the well known book-maker on Union street, died on Sunday and was buried to-day. He had resided here for many years, and was known to most of the older citizens.

Mr. Thomas Davies, an old resident of Fairfax county, who was a regular attendant of the market in this city for many years, died yesterday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Harrison, one of the oldest residents of this city, died at her residence on Queen street last night. She leaves a large number of children and grandchildren, and was much loved and respected by all who knew her. The deceased was for 65 years a subscriber to the Gazette.

COMMENDABLE.—Senator R. E. Withers, who resides in this city, was caught here yesterday morning by the storm, and was unable to get to Washington by any of the usual routes. The importance of his setting there, in view of the question of the admission of Mr. Butler, of South Carolina, which was to come up in the Senate, was very great, and much solicitude was felt lest he should fail. In this state of affairs Captain Matthew Kersey, of the tug boat Belle Haven, came to the rescue, offered the use of his boat to the Senator, and carried him to Washington in time for the meeting of the Senate. Captain Kersey's public spirited action is much to be commended.

NARROW ESCAPE.—On Sunday evening, while Mr. Newman Laws was pumping some water from the well in his yard, at the corner of Duke and Fayette streets, he felt the ground giving away under him and made a jump to one side. Just after he jumped a large portion of the top of the well caved in, leaving a considerable hole where he had been standing. Mr. Laws' escape from death or serious injury was truly wonderful.

ACCIDENTS.—A man named George Arrington, while paddling about Hunting Creek in a skiff, on Sunday evening, was thrown into the water, but was rescued with some difficulty by persons from the light house on Jones' Point. A large crowd was collected at Lawler's corner, on Vinegar Hill, Sunday evening, by a negro boy named Joe Burrell, who, while in a fit, fell off a high step and hurt himself severely.

AGRICULTURAL FAIR.—A meeting of all those favorable to the organization of an association for the purpose of holding annual agricultural fairs in this city will be held to-morrow night at the City Hall. The importance of such an object is so obvious that a bare mention of it will, it is supposed, be sufficient to attract a large number, all of whom will be anxious to assist in the movement.

COLUMBIA S. F. E. CO.—At a meeting of this Company, held last night, it was determined to accept their new bell. As the bell is much larger than was expected, its cost is greater, and it was decided that a committee of two, consisting of Messrs. R. C. Lee, Jr., and K. W. Wheat, wait upon the citizens for aid in paying for it, said committee to proceed immediately with their work.

DESERTED.—A sailor, whose name could not be ascertained, swam ashore last night, from the schooner Isaac Osborne, laying off Prince street, and taking possession of a yawl boat belonging to Captain Windsor, of the sloop Mary Ann, rowed back to the vessel, and secured his baggage and money. He then returned to the shore, tied up the boat and made tracks.

COUNTY COURT.—Sheriff Wibert of the county received a telegram this morning from Judge Sangster, stating that he would be unable to reach here until to-morrow, and the jurors and witnesses were accordingly discharged until then.

CITY COUNCIL.—The City Council will hold its regular meeting to-night. The city debt commission will meet at the Auditor's office at seven o'clock and present its report to Council, in a body.

Local Brevities.

S. H. Wimsatt, formerly of this city, but now a county constable in Washington, who was sent to jail on Saturday afternoon by Magistrate Mills for contempt, was released yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus by Judge Humphreys.

Revel services will be continued to-night, in the M. E. Church. The sermon will be preached by Rev. W. C. Webb.

Cumberland coal has advanced $1.50 per ton, in consequence of the damage to the canal by the flood.

The Press of this city has suspended publication.

"Helen's Babies." The work is acknowledged to be the best selling article in our book stores. Druggists, however, say that Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup sells better than any other other medicine. It is perfectly harmless and always reliable. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Persuade your suffering friend to use "Dunbar's Rheumatic Remedy" for rheumatism, and he will afterwards thank you. Cures permanently. Five to twenty minutes needed to cure headache by "Lodlie's Headache Specific." Price, 50 cents large bottle.

PANIC PRICES.—All wool Boys' Overcoats at $3.00 at the Boss Clothing House.

From Washington.

(SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.

SENATE.

The Senate sat this night out, and at early dawn "our day" was still there, on the north wing of the Capitol.

"At daybreak we saw in the dawn's early light, What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming;

Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the tireless night,

O'er the Senate's debate still gallantly stream."

Within three or four republican and ten or twelve democratic Senators occupied seats, and the floor, with the mass of papers scattered over it, showed that the usual night's cleaning up had been omitted.

The republicans had continued through the night to filibuster and obstruct the legislation of the Senate.

Mr. Wadleigh, Chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, had charge of the republicans, and it became his place as a partisan to see that the democrats were allowed no chance to get a vote upon the resolution of Mr. Thurman discharging the committee from the consideration of the case of Mr. Butler, of South Carolina (it being known that this would be carried 32 to 30). He kept well awake, and engineered the matter so that there was always some obstacle to a vote. During the early portion of the evening the supply of breath on the republican side seemed undiminished, and talk varied by votes and motions to go into executive session, to adjourn, &c., varied the proceedings.

During the proceedings Mr. Ransom, who was addressing the Senate, fell to the floor in a fainting fit. He was cared for and soon recovered.

About daylight, the republicans becoming somewhat tired of talk, to give them a retiring spell.

Mr. Edmunds moved to go into executive session, and no quorum appeared. He then moved that the Sergeant at Arms be requested to ask the attendance of the members, which was agreed to, and on the next vote a quorum appeared.

This species of change in the sleepy current of talk was made up of several times during the night and this morning.

When the voices of the speakers were near spent, the report of the Committee on the Kellogg case was read by Mr. Burdette, but he became tired, and his voice sank so low as to be scarcely distinguishable.

A voice—[Laughter.]

Mr. Hill, of Ga., rose to the point of order, that the Senator from Rhode Island was not reading loud enough to be heard. [Laughter.]

Mr. Burdette then elevated his voice and read on until the conclusion of the report.

Mr. Wadleigh here moved to adjourn and it was lost.

A call of the Senate was ordered.

A Democratic Senator—What for? to listen to this stuff.

Mr. Edmunds—To hear the truth!

A motion to take a recess until 10 o'clock a. m.

Mr. Cameron, of Pa., then addressed the Senate, and said that as a matter of instruction to the Senate he would read the brief submitted to the committee by Mr. Corbin. This reading occupied over an hour.

At 10:40 o'clock a. m. Mr. Allison moved to take a recess until one o'clock this afternoon, which was lost—yeas 21, nays 25.

Mr. Cameron then resumed the floor and began again the reading of Corbin's brief, which belied its name and seemed well nigh interminable.

At 11:55 a motion to adjourn was made which was lost—yeas 24, nays 28.

Mr. Wadleigh rose.

Mr. Whyte made the point of order that Mr. Wadleigh must not rise to lead the floor, and yield it to others without coming under the rule of the Senate which forbade any Senator from speaking twice on the same subject until all the Senators had had an opportunity to speak.

Mr. Wadleigh said that if the Senator from Maryland had waited a moment he would have found his point needless for he had risen merely to move that the Senate take a recess until 2 o'clock p. m.

The motion was lost—yeas 23, nays 26.

When 12 noon arrived the chairman said:—In the judgment of the chair the legislation day continues until the adjournment of the Senate, and will so rule unless otherwise ordered by the Senate.

Mr. Mitchell moved to amend by adding at the end of Mr. Thurman's resolution—

"And that this motion be made the special order for to-morrow at 12:30."

Mr. Edmunds moved that the Senate go into executive session.

This motion was lost—yeas 22, nays 25.

Mr. Merrimon addressed the Senate to show how utterly false was the suggestion that any considerable number of persons were intimidated from voting at the general election last year.

The Senate finally passed the resolution discharging the committee from the consideration of Gen. M. C. Butler's case. Yeas, 29; nays, 27. The Senate then went into executive session.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

In the House to-day, after the reading of the journal.

Mr. Morrison, of Ill., read a portion of a speech prepared to be delivered prior to the passage of the "Rumal" bill and then

A long and uninteresting debate took place upon a motion to print 10,000 copies of the report of the U. S. Monetary Commission which resulted in recommitting the whole subject.

A resolution that the loss of the Haron was attributable to her unseaworthiness and appointing a committee to investigate into the construction of other vessels now being built and stop further progress, was objected to and withdrawn.

A number of bills of a private character were introduced and referred.

The Postal Route bill was taken up and passed.

The States were then called for bills and resolutions and a number were presented.

A resolution of thanks to Henry M. Stanley for his African expedition was referred.

A bill for the restoration of Geo. A. Ames to his rank in the U. S. Army, was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

A bill restoring entirely the franking privilege was referred.

A resolution for the relief of citizens of Lynchburg was introduced by Mr. Tucker and referred.

A bill to appoint a Board of High Naval officers to enquire and report upon the condition of naval vessels being built, was referred, as was

A bill for the relief of the political disabilities of Gen. B. H. Robertson, of Va.

A petition of sundry colored citizens of Mississippi for an appropriation of $100,000 to enable them to migrate to Liberia, was ordered to be printed and referred.

Geo. Hutton introduced a resolution to permit the electoral commission committee to employ a clerk and messenger. Referred.

A bill to incorporate the District of Columbia Gas Light Co. was referred.

The House adjourned till Friday.

R. L. Case, President of the Security Life Insurance Company of New York, was sentenced to five years imprisonment in the penitentiary, in New York, to-day.

The students of Mill's Seminary, at South Williamson, Mass., attempted to blow up that institution Saturday night.

Wm. Devries, of Baltimore, died to-day.

France.

The Paris Figaro says should the Government dissolve the Chamber, a state of siege will only be proclaimed in frontier provinces and a few departments, particularly those where newspapers are discussing the disposition of the army. As to the latter the Figaro declares it is possible that a state of siege may be proclaimed irrespective of the question of disunion.

Note—In Paris and other large cities, newspapers are discussing whether the army will support MacMahon or the Republic in case of a conflict. During the two night past small manifest placards insulting or threatening President MacMahon, have been posted in various quarters of Paris. The Gazette des Tribunaux states that hundreds of persons were arrested yesterday for drunkenness, raising seditious cries and insulting and resisting the police.

The steamer C. H. Northern was burned at New York to-day, and three colored men with her.

ASTONISHING SUCCESS.—It is the duty of every person who has used BOSCHER'S GERMAN SYRUP to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all druggists to recommend it to the poor dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 40,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no case failed where it failed was reported. Such medicine as the GERMAN SYRUP cannot be too widely known. Ask your Druggist about it. Sample bottles to try sold at ten cents. Regular size 75 cents. For sale by all Druggists. nov 12
